Justin Dillon Christensen

918-284-2712

j.dillon.christensen@gmail.com

11106 S 108th E Ave, Bixby, OK, 74008

My name is Dillon. I have been fascinated with code since I first learned HTML in 2005. Since then I've mastered HTML, CSS andJavaScript. I still love to learn new things in all three languages.

I started working with dynamic pages. Starting off rough with ASP then jumping into PHP. I fell in love with PHP right away. Which means I also loved MySQL. This gave me a strong grasp of SQL and managing relational databases. I learned WordPress to get some freelance work making themes. After learning OOP in PHP, I thought I would like to learn more about programming. I dove into C# and WinForms. And I enjoyed enjoyed it so much, I wanted more. I learned Objective-C specifically with the goal of iOS development. After that I learned Android development in Java. Then realizing native apps are going to the browser, I learnedGWT. Currently, I've been learning Node.js, CoffeeScript, and AngularJS in my free time.

Here's what sets me apart from the crowd:

- Passion for learning. I pick up new things quickly. I am able to figure out how things work.
- Communication skills when working with a team of any size. I'm very easy-going and can handle criticism well.
- I can get into the end-user mindset to design and develop a great UI.
- I have an iPhone, but I'm not a fanboy

Experience

iMirus - Software Developer

January 2012 - Present in Tulsa, OK

- Built mobile document reader in Google Web Toolkit using mgwt & gwt-bootstrap
- Recruited new developers at University career fairs
- Bugfixes, enhancements, and new features in iOS and Android apps
- Developed an in-house utility apps on iOS to run diagnostics on live documents

- Developed webapps for catalog publishers to manage catalog prices
- Developed front-end web page to run common production tasks
- Started loving Mercurial

Freelance Web Development

May 2011 - December 2011 in Tulsa, OK

- Developed WordPress themes and plugins
- Began to develop social quote sharing site in PHP/MySQL

---

iMirus - Account Manager

January 2011 - January 2012 in Tulsa, OK

- Recognized for having strong communication skills with publishers
- Developed applications in Java and PHP to sanitize email lists
- Created/updated web pages and JavaScript functionality
- Proficient with Adobe Fireworks/Acrobat

Outside of those jobs, I've worked in retail. If you'd like to see more please email me and we can talk.